Summer Tips

We hope that you are enjoying summer break, it's not too early to start thinking about the transition back into school routines. Here are a few pointers to begin preparation.

1. Make sure that the first date of school is on the calendar. August 12. Younger students may benefit from a visual representation of the countdown to start date. A calendar on the refrigerator is a great tool to help prepare. Middle school students may have some summer highlights they want to finish up. Discussing the upcoming year and listening to their concerns may help them express their emotions.
2. Sleep Schedule - The summer sleep routine may have allowed for some late nights. Starting an earlier bedtime by 10-minute increments may help get back to the school schedule.
3. Supplies - Check out the list on our website. Ask questions at open house August 8th. Middle school students must purchase a PE uniform and school planner. Planners will be available through the school store.
4. Doctor's appointments - make sure your up to date on all required vaccinations.
